Jackie Ellis
Kelly Reilly
The former detective is haunted by the disappearance of her nine-year-old niece Nessa three years ago.

Kelly Reilly and Rafe Spall must catch a killer before their coastal town is consumed by the sea

TROUBLED

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Under Salt Marsh

Fri, 9pm & 10.05pm, Sky Atlantic

An ex-cop and her former partner on the force must race against time to solve a chilling murder in a dark and atmospheric crime drama that has drawn comparisons to hit US series True Detective.

Set in the fictional Welsh coastal town of Morfa Halen, six-parter Under Salt Marsh begins with schoolteacher Jackie Ellis (Kelly Reilly) discovering the lifeless body of one of her pupils, Cefin Hill, in a drainage ditch.

It's a devastating moment for Jackie and also brings back terrible memories of her final case as a detective, when she failed to find the person responsible for the disappearance of her nine-year-old niece, Nessa.

Jackie is also dismayed to learn her former colleague, DS Eric Bull (Rafe Spall), with whom she has a troubled history, is returning to lead the murder investigation in a community still scarred by their failure to solve Nessa's case three years earlier.

While Eric has continued with his career, Jackie left the police force in a bid to build a new life, and it's soon clear that she still feels a sense of betrayal towards her old partner.

Meanwhile, Jackie's relationship with her younger sister, Lydia, has never recovered after Eric arrested Lydia, wrongly suspecting Nessa's mum of involvement in her disappearance.

'Jackie is deeply resentful of Eric after what happened with their investigation,' explains Reilly, 48. 'Ideally, someone so personally connected wouldn't have led such a case, but Jackie is strong-willed and believed her bond with Nessa would help. The case has remained unsolved, leaving the community and Jackie in a state of purgatory without any closure.'

DS Eric Bull
Rafe Spall
The community of Morfa Halen isn't pleased to see the detective return after he mishandled the search for Nessa.

WATERS

While Jackie is haunted by that legacy, the case also brings back dark memories for Eric. But after a frosty reunion, the pair must put their differences aside to discover what happened to Cefin.

HEAVY WEATHER

'Eric is a compelling character – flawed, brooding and complex,' says Spall, 42. 'The series is gripping and the writing has an other-worldly quality. It reminds me of Twin Peaks and True Detective, although it's very much its own thing.

'Eric is an outsider in Morfa Halen and the town is wary of him, but he doesn't care. He's there to do a job – catch the killer.'

Jackie becomes convinced that Cefin's death is related to Nessa's disappearance, but time is not on her side as she works to prove a link between the two cases. An approaching, once-in-a-lifetime storm is also threatening to wash the coastal community away and destroy every shred of evidence.

'It's a crime drama, but it's also a character study that explores how trauma and guilt shape someone,' says Reilly. 'The landscape and the storm are gritty, but also beautiful.'

After starring alongside Kevin Costner as the ruthless Beth Dutton in hit US drama Yellowstone for six years, Under Salt Marsh is England-born Reilly's first British TV project since 2018, and she is delighted to be leading a stellar cast that includes Oscar nominee Sir Jonathan Pryce.

'To come back and work with British actors has been a joy. It's such a wonderful ensemble,' she says. 'Everyone brought passion to the project, even in tough conditions. Filming in North Wales during the winter was intense. We were out in the wind and rain, but the commitment was inspiring.'

However, Spall was not quite as enamoured with the wild conditions, especially when it came to filming an action scene in a flooded warehouse.

'The whole shoot was very wet,' he smiles. 'I'm not into stunts and shooting that scene in particular wasn't much fun. As an actor, my ideal scene is sitting down, in the warm, talking, preferably in bed. I always joke that my perfect role is being in a coma!'

Who's that girl?

Benedict loses his heart to a mysterious stranger as the Regency romance returns

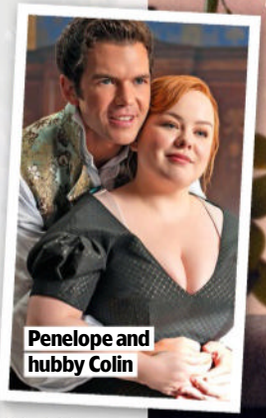
NEW DRAMA

Bridgerton

From Thursday 29 January, Netflix (eps 1-4 from Thu 29 January; eps 5-8 from Thu 26 February)

Free-spirited Benedict Bridgerton is set to become the talk of the 'ton' as he takes centre stage when Netflix's hit period drama returns for a fourth run of romance and scandal.

Previous series of Bridgerton have seen the hard-living bachelor, played by Luke Thompson, resolutely avoid the competitive marriage market of Regency London's high society. But now, the talented artist is set to fall hopelessly in love with a mysterious stranger.



Penelope and hubby Colin

As the eight-parter begins, Benedict, the second eldest of the eight wealthy Bridgerton siblings, reluctantly attends a masquerade ball held by his mother Lady Violet (Ruth Gemmell). He is soon bewitched by the enigmatic 'Lady in Silver', unaware that she is Sophie Baek (Yerin Ha), a plucky maid working for Lady Araminta Gun (Katie Leung, see panel, right), who has disguised herself to attend the dance.

Can infatuated Benedict track down the woman who has captured his heart, and will they attract the attention of gossip columnist Lady Whistledown, AKA Benedict's sister-in-law Penelope Bridgerton (Nicola Coughlan)?

Here, Thompson, 37, and Ha, 28, reveal more…

Sophie's looking for love

Sophie and Benedict meet

Where do we find Benedict?
Thompson He hasn't quite tipped into maturity and is keen to hold on to his freedom. And there's a real fear of what falling in love would mean.

What can you reveal about Sophie?
Ha Sophie is headstrong and independent but she yearns for love. She doesn't let a lot of people in, but she learns to let her walls down.

Will Sophie and Benedict be able to overcome the rigid social structure of the 1800s and forge a relationship?
Ha When Sophie meets Benedict, her life changes. It's great to see Benedict finally fall in love, but he's of noble class and Sophie's of lower class. What's beautiful, though, is that they see each other for who they are, and they question the standards that society puts on people.
Thompson Sophie forces Benedict to grow up. She's realistic, pragmatic, and always got the next move planned out – unlike Benedict. It's about opposites attracting. But the situation Benedict wants is not possible because of obstacles…

Class is a major theme this time, isn't it?
Ha Yes, the 'upstairs, downstairs' element brings fresh energy. Sophie's employer, Araminta, misuses her power and it highlights how hard it was being a maid in that era. The household is suffocating.
Thompson We're going downstairs and finding out about the servants who work at Bridgerton House, too. Characters come to the fore like Mrs Wilson [the Bridgertons' housekeeper played by Geraldine Alexander] and John [the Bridgertons' footman, portrayed by Oli Higginson].

What was it like filming the masquerade ball?
Thompson Some of the most magical moments on Bridgerton are the dances. This masquerade ball has an element of a fairy tale. Everyone's playing a game and not showing their cards.
Ha The ball was one of my favourite things to shoot. When I first tried on my costume with the mask, it was a Cinderella moment.

CLASS ACT

Katie Leung joins the cast as indomitable Lady Araminta Gun*

Sophie is not the only new arrival in the latest series of Bridgerton, as her uncompromising employer Lady Araminta Gun (Katie Leung), the owner of Penwood House, also steps into the spotlight.

The no-nonsense, twice-widowed aristocrat is keen to launch her daughters – ambitious Rosamund (Michelle Mao) and kindly Posy (Isabella Wei) – on to the social scene. But can they win the hand of any wealthy suitors?

'Araminta's a force of nature,' says Harry Potter star Leung, 38. 'She believes Rosamund's a perfect match for Benedict. And she knows she can get whatever she wants, but that begins to slip away…'

The hunt for 1970s serial killer John Wayne Gacy...

Reign of TERROR

NEW DRAMA

Devil in Disguise: John Wayne Gacy

Friday, 9pm, ITV1 (box set, ITVX)

Between 1972 and 1978, John Wayne Gacy kidnapped and murdered 33 young men in the suburbs of Chicago – crimes that went unnoticed because the sadistic killer was a respected member of the community.

This eight-part series dramatises the police's efforts to bring Gacy to justice, beginning when the parents of teenager Rob Piest report their son missing. The Last of Us star Gabriel Luna plays Detective Rafael Tovar, who is immediately suspicious of Gacy despite the killer's seeming normality.

Gabriel Luna as Det Tovar

BLENDING IN

'Tovar was a hard-working individual, and very diligent in his work,' says Luna, 43. 'Even after it was clearly known that Gacy was the culprit – because Gacy himself confessed – Tovar continued his pursuit of identifying the 33 victims.'

The press was quick to dub Gacy the 'Killer Clown' due to his prior performances as a children's entertainer, but this led to the nature of his crimes being widely misconstrued – something that the series is keen to put right.

'It was a real misdirect by the media at the time because it sold a lot of newspapers,' says Severance actor Michael Chernus, who plays Gacy. 'He didn't kill people dressed as a clown, or lure boys back to his house dressed that way; it was just one of many masks he wore to blend into normal society.'

DEEP IMPACT

Chernus was initially reluctant to take on the role of Gacy (who was executed in 1994), but changed his mind after producers convinced him that the series had the potential to challenge the public perception of the killer and highlight the impact on the victims' families. However, he still found the role deeply unsettling.

'I would drop him the second I could,' says Chernus, 48. 'I didn't want to subject our incredible crew to John Wayne Gacy any longer than they already had to. My family moved with me to Toronto, where we shot the show, and I didn't want my young daughter or my wife to deal with him either.

'But in doing press for the show, he has come back, and it's a hard story to shake off completely. I think it will always be part of me in some way.'

Lord Sugar (centre) with this year's ambitious contestants

Business is booming

Lord Alan Sugar celebrates The Apprentice's 20th anniversary with the biggest series yet

NEW REALITY

The Apprentice

Thursday, 9pm, BBC1

When The Apprentice launched in 2005, the cut-throat TV competition chaired by the then-Sir Alan Sugar instantly won a loyal audience with its larger-than-life contestants who were always willing to give 110%.

This week, the show celebrates its landmark 20th season in style by sending 20 candidates – more than ever before – to Hong Kong, where they're tasked with a treasure hunt across the bustling city.

'The thinking behind it was to do something different for the 20th series because it's an amazing milestone,' says Lord Sugar, 78. 'Hong Kong is my old hunting ground, so I jump on a plane and surprise them. They come into the boardroom and there I am.'

Before the boardroom showdown, where at least one of them will be fired, the contestants – who include a letting agent, an actor and a pet-cremation urn provider – must purchase nine specific items, including shrimp paste, a mah-jong set and a calligraphy brush, at the lowest price possible.

Vying for a potentially life-changing £250,000 investment and mentorship from the business mogul, they must grapple with language barriers and an unfamiliar city. And, as ever, Lord Sugar's aides – Baroness Karren Brady and Series 1 winner Tim Campbell – are paying close attention to proceedings.

'The 20th series is an amazing milestone'

LORD ALAN SUGAR

TRADING HUB

'Hong Kong is a fabulous, fast-moving place and it really pushes the candidates out of their comfort zone,' says Brady, 56. 'Some are a bit overconfident and you can see how the environment challenges them, but that's exactly why it makes for fantastic television.'

Other upcoming tasks in the 12-part series involve creating a children's book, selling on live TV and hosting a corporate away day on the Red Sea in Egypt, as well as a second discount buying task on the Isle of Wight.

To date, Lord Sugar has invested more than £3 million in winners' start-ups, and he's signed up to do three more years of the show. Later this year, he will also be

WORDS: ELAINE REILLY; SIMON TIMBLICK. PHOTOS: BBC, GETTY, ITV

Campbell, Sugar and Brady

helming the first full-length version of The Celebrity Apprentice, with a line-up of yet-to-be announced famous faces.

CELEBRITY SPOTLIGHT

'It will be interesting to see how the celebrities fare across a full series, removing their PAs, PRs, agents and all the other assistance they have in their day-to-day lives,' says Sugar.

'I never imagined back in Series 1 that I'd still be here two decades later. But I've always said I will carry on as long as the BBC wants me to.'

YOU'RE HIRED!

With comedian Tom Allen stepping down from companion show The Apprentice: You're Fired! after six years, presenter Angela Scanlon launches a rebranded version of the spin-off, The Apprentice: Unfinished Business (Thursday, 10.05pm, BBC2).

Each week, Scanlon – who recently appeared in a celebrity Christmas special of the show – will be joined by freshly fired candidates and special guests.

'Having recently gone toe to toe with Lord Alan Sugar in the boardroom, it is an absolute treat for me to be part of The Apprentice as it heads into its 20th series,' she says. 'I can't wait to get suited and booted to unpack the drama and make sense of the madness.'

Selwyn returns to Saint Marie to help crack a mysterious case

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Death in Paradise

Friday, 9pm, BBC1

The team are preparing to welcome Commissioner Selwyn Patterson (Don Warrington) back to Saint Marie as Death in Paradise returns for a 15th series this week – but moments after stepping off the plane, Selwyn finds himself right at the heart of an investigation.

After learning that troubled employee Kevin Felton (Will Close) is threatening to jump from the roof of Government House, Selwyn is devastated when he fails to stop him. But DI Mervin Wilson (Don Gilet) isn't convinced Kevin died by suicide.

SUBTERFUGE

'On the surface, it seems someone's taken their own life, but there's always that little moment where Mervin thinks, "No, there's got to be more to it than that,"' says Gilet, who joined the series in December 2024. 'Without giving too much away, we work out how it's possible for someone to have seemingly killed themselves – but not.'

As the Commissioner was one of the key witnesses to Kevin's death, he and Mervin work closely together to uncover the truth, and Gilet was delighted to explore a new side to their relationship.

'It's the first time that we have had to almost work as a partnership,' reveals Gilet, 59. 'I don't want to call Mervin his protégé, but I do see Selwyn as the Yoda to his Luke Skywalker in many ways. What I like about this episode is that it's Mervin and Selwyn as an odd couple.'

FAMILY STRIFE

It's not just the case that has Mervin preoccupied – having tracked down Solomon Clarke (Daniel Ward), the brother he only recently found out about, Mervin is excited to meet his long-lost sibling. However, Solomon isn't quite what he's expecting…

'They couldn't be any more opposed in terms of their personalities,' says Gilet. 'One is there to solve crime, and the other seems to be causing it. Mervin has always wanted a family, but Solomon isn't the kind of brother Mervin would have wanted…'

NEW RECRUIT

The War Between the Land and the Sea*'s Catherine Garton joins Death in Paradise this series as Sergeant Mattie Fletcher. The amiable, hard-working new hire makes a good first impression, but it soon becomes apparent that she's got some skeletons in her closet.

'She's kind of a cool, big-sister character with an easy-going charm and warmth,' says Garton. 'But she's a bit of a thrill seeker, and quite impulsive – she has some maverick tendencies that can get her into trouble.'

Since she joined Dragons' Den back in 2006, Deborah Meaden has seen quite a few changes to the line-up of multimillionaire investors. And now, as BBC1's business showcase returns for another series, she welcomes more new faces to the panel.

Meaden will once again be joined by fellow resident Dragons Touker Suleyman, Steven Bartlett and Peter Jones, but there's a seat to fill following the departure of Sara Davies, who appeared for six series from 2019 to 2025.

'I will miss Sara in the Den, but we're friends, so I don't miss her in real life because we've stayed in touch,' explains Meaden, 66. 'It's always sad when a Dragon goes, but we've got guest Dragons sitting in the chair beside me now, which works really well.'

Meaden tries on a different hat

Guest Dragons were first seen in 2024 when footballer turned businessman Gary Neville and fashion mogul Emma Grede paid visits to the Den, with former TV presenter Trinny Woodall and fitness guru Joe Wicks joining the rota for last year's series.

MONEY TALKS

In the new run, there is a fresh batch of guests, each dropping in to hear pitches from budding entrepreneurs who hope to win investments and expert business guidance from the Dragons.

Later in the series, Gary Neville makes a return, while the newbies include rapper and presenter Tinie Tempah, who

LAST ONE CRIME DRAMA

Lynley

Monday, 8.30pm, BBC1

As BBC1's detective-drama reboot draws to a close this week, DI Thomas Lynley and DS Barbara Havers cement their status as a crime-solving force to be reckoned with.

In Lynley's Season 1 finale, the body of a vulnerable teenager is found in an alley in Great Yarmouth, horrifying the mismatched sleuths and strengthening their determination to catch his murderer.

'This episode is where you really see them trusting each other,' reveals Sofia Barclay, who plays Barbara, in an exclusive interview with

First up, however, is Jenna Meek, who launched a festival cosmetics brand when she was 20 and is now CEO of beauty company REFY.

'I had never met Jenna before, but I knew about her business because of her stratospheric rise,' explains Meaden.

Among those facing the Dragons in the series opener are a business duo who are hoping to hit the spot with their plant-based beverage, and a former pharmacist with a women-only self-defence venture.

'It's probably the strongest year,' says Meaden. 'You can see that by the number of investments. And there's an absolute first for the series, which I am absolutely delighted about. I can't tell you what it is, but it's cracking!'

TV&Satellite Week. 'They start to respect each other through the work and their similar devotion to seeing justice done.'

Initially unaware that the case raises personal demons for them both, the investigation leads to a church with ties to a drug gang, and evidence comes to light about other unsolved murders with religious connotations.

PERSONAL PROBLEMS

When Barbara encounters the suspicious Reverend Gethyn Strong (James Northcote), she tells Thomas about her family being targeted by similar people after her brother's death. In turn, Thomas opens up about the untimely death of his own brother...

Daniel Mays as DCI Brian Nies

'They have this shared thing, and it's a binding force between them. It speaks to the difficulty of grief when someone dies young and there isn't any control,' explains Leo Suter, who plays Thomas. 'One of the things about being a detective is that you have some control on the chaos of a murder, because you get to solve it.'

Suspecting that a serial killer and police corruption are at play, the simmering tensions between Thomas and his boss DCI Brian Nies (Daniel Mays) come to a head. Meanwhile, the killer turns their attention to someone close to the aristocratic copper...

'At the end of the episode, it feels like there's so much more going on,' teases Suter. 'It would be wonderful to return for a second season.'

Sir Ben Kingsley as has-been Trevor Slattery

Lights, cameras, CHAOS!

Yahya Abdul-Mateen II and Sir Ben Kingsley play actors battling for stardom in a Marvel series

Disney+ Wonder Man

NEW Available: Wednesday 28 January
Genre: Superhero drama
Season: 1 Episodes: 8

A struggling, secretly superpowered actor joins forces with Hollywood's most flamboyant has-been in Marvel's new meta-comedy series that combines superheroics with sharp showbiz satire.

The eight-parter introduces chronically overlooked actor Simon Williams (Yahya Abdul-Mateen II), who runs into washed-up Liverpudlian luvvie Trevor Slattery (Sir Ben Kingsley, reprising his Iron Man 3 role) after his latest cameo ends up being axed.

Trevor is back in Tinseltown hoping to revive his own career. But when he gives Simon the scoop on a remake of superhero movie Wonder Man and coaches him for auditions, can Simon keep his own superhuman abilities under wraps?

MEETING OF MINDS

'Simon is stuck doing day-player roles and is looking for his big break when he finds out about casting for his dream role in Wonder Man. He makes it his mission to land that role and develops a trusting, mentor-mentee friendship in Trevor. But Simon has a secret – he has superpowers…,' says Abdul-Mateen II, 39, who's also known for his superpowered roles in the Aquaman franchise and sci-fi series Watchmen, during an exclusive chat with TV&Satellite Week

'I had a great time working with Ben and loved putting the suit on for the first time. I tried to do a cool flick of my cloak, but caught it on my face and was flailing around. It was pure comedy.'

'I jumped up and down when I was asked to return to the role of Trevor'
SIR BEN KINGSLEY

The top cast includes Ed Harris as Simon's agent, Neal Saroyan, Zlatko Buric as director Von Kovak and Demetrius Grosse as Simon's brother, Eric Williams. Arian Moayed also reprises his Spider-Man: No Way Home character, the Department of Damage Control's Agent P Cleary.

The new series marks

Superpowered Simon Williams (Yahya Abdul-Mateen II)

Oscar-winning Gandhi star Kingsley's fourth outing as fan-favourite Trevor, who was first seen posing as the Mandarin in 2013 blockbuster Iron Man 3 before reappearing in Marvel One-Shot: All Hail the King in 2014 and 2021 Shang-Chi and the Legend of the Ten Rings.

'I jumped up and down when I was asked to return to the role of Trevor. I'm very fond of him,' Kingsley, 82, tells us during a video call from the US. 'He's a rough diamond and we now find him in LA, hoping to make a name for himself when he takes Simon under his wing.

'Trevor is kind by nature, and he's an homage to some actors I've worked with. But Marvel takes some bold steps at satirising Hollywood with this series, and Yahya and I enjoyed slightly poking fun at the industry. It's a good yarn.'

Is Jason Segel's grieving therapist ready to love again?

Moving on

Shrinking

NEW Available: Wednesday 28 January
Genre: Comedy drama Season: 3
Episodes: 11 (released weekly)

As hit dramedy Shrinking returns for a third season, we find maverick therapist Jimmy Laird in a good place. He finally feels he's getting the hang of single-parenting his daughter Alice and has learnt to appreciate the intrusive yet unwavering support of his colleagues.

However, there's one step forward Jimmy refuses to take, and that's embracing love again after the death of his wife Tia.

'Privately, Jimmy is determined not to move forward – ever. It's like the best part of his life happened and his job now is to come to terms with that,' says Jason Segel, 46, who plays him.

Harrison Ford as shrink Paul

ROMANCE ON THE CARDS?

But Jimmy may find that decision is taken out of his hands when he reconnects with Sofi (Cobie Smulders), who sold him a car in the previous series and clearly feels a spark between them.

'The magic trick of casting Cobie is that she and I have known each other for 25 years,' says Segel of his How I Met Your Mother co-star. 'Sofi and Jimmy have known each other for an instant, but you feel 25 years of history between these strangers. So, when you present a chemistry that is undeniable, Jimmy is forced to move forward.'

HEALTH CHALLENGES

Meanwhile, as grumpy shrink Paul (Harrison Ford) struggles with his worsening Parkinson's symptoms, Hollywood star Michael J Fox, who has the condition in real life, guest-stars as Gerry, who is also living with the disease.

'Michael wanted to show a really unfiltered view of what Parkinson's looks like as it progresses,' says Segel. 'We try really hard to take that subject seriously and to do right by it, so having Michael there meant a lot to us.'

Also joining the show is The Looming Tower's Jeff Daniels, who plays Jimmy's estranged father – and Segel feels the casting is perfect.

'I kind of steal Jeff Daniels' moves a bit. It's not intentional but I'm like Jeff 2.0,' he admits. 'There were scenes between us where I am mimicking him to show that I am his son – and I didn't have to do a thing!'

How the USA won an epic Cold War showdown

The match was a huge upset

NETFLIX Miracle: The Boys of '80

NEW Available: Fri 30 January
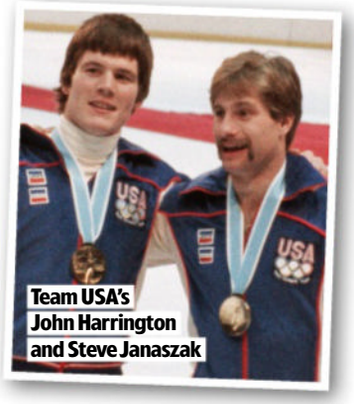
Genre: Documentary



Team USA's John Harrington and Steve Janaszak

With the Winter Olympics on the horizon, this timely one-off documentary revisits one of the most iconic sporting moments in Games history.

At the height of the Cold War, the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid saw a remarkable men's ice-hockey clash as the USA's team of rookies took on the mighty Soviet Union in what came to be known as the 'Miracle on Ice'.

The Soviets had claimed gold in four consecutive Games and were favourites to win again. The USA, by contrast, had the youngest team in the tournament, with an average age of 21, composed mostly of college students and amateur players.

Against the odds, the USA, coached by Herb Brooks, pulled off a huge shock, defeating the Soviets 4-3, before going on to claim gold by beating Finland in their final game.

Now, the remarkable underdog story is being told using archive footage and reflections from those who took part.

'Back then, the Soviets were together for 11 months out of the year. They vacationed together, practised together, trained together,' recalls former defender Bill Baker. 'Nobody really knew much about us. But we snuck up on everybody.'

Gary Barlow, Howard Donald, Mark Owen, Robbie Williams and Jason Orange in the 1990s

Everything changes

Take That look back on their greatest days...

NETFLIX Take That

NEW Available: Tuesday 27 January
Genre: Documentary Season: 1 Eps: 3

With No 1 hits and sell-out shows spanning more than three decades, Take That are one of the UK's most successful bands.

Now, their epic 35-year journey is explored in a new three-part documentary using concert footage and personal videos, plus fresh interviews with the current line-up – Gary Barlow, Mark Owen and Howard Donald – and archive chats with original members Jason Orange and Robbie Williams.

Here, Barlow, 55, tells us more…

What can fans expect to see in the documentary? This series shares each of our perspectives on the 35 years we've been together – from our shaky start and the No 1s to the years we took off and our comeback. It tells the Take That story in a real way.

We hear the documentary features some of Howard Donald's old camcorder footage... I'd forgotten a lot of those smaller moments when we were together as a band, so it was nice to remember them again. It's amazing that Howard kept all that stuff.

Is there anything that you think will genuinely surprise fans? It might have seemed to some people like there was always drama in the early days, but it wasn't like that. We've all had our moments, we're human, but this band really is made up of good people.

We see footage of the band's entire career – if you could relive one moment of the time covered in the series, what would it be? The Circus Live tour in 2009 was such a spectacle – very little comes close to how it felt standing on the back of that giant elephant as it lifted above the audience. On our 2026 tour, I'll be living for that moment every night.

Looking back over the past 35 years, are there any achievements you are particularly proud of? Everything that's happened since reuniting in 2006 makes me proud. The story of the band has continued through our music, and that's not easy to achieve a second time. But after Jason left in 2014 [after retiring from the music industry], something told me: 'It's all going to be all right.'

AFRICA uncovered

Clive Myrie crosses the continent to explore its fascinating culture

Car spinning in Soweto

A lesson at the surf school

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Clive Myrie's African Adventure

Monday-Friday, 6.30pm, BBC2 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

Having already explored the Caribbean and Italy for his previous travelogues, this time Clive Myrie's destination is Africa, where he was based in Johannesburg as a BBC correspondent more than 20 years ago.

'I've always wanted to come back and explore Africa more deeply and show a side that we rarely see on TV,' says the BBC newsreader and Mastermind host.

The 10-episode series sees him delve into the culture of South Africa, Ghana, Morocco and Nigeria and immerse himself in an array of activities involving food, fashion, football, art and music.

Here, in an exclusive interview, Myrie, 61, talks us through his highlights....

You join in with all kinds of activities during your African travels. What did you enjoy most? I went to a special surf school in Durban, South Africa, which is an amazing initiative set up for homeless and disadvantaged children to keep them off the streets and teach them surf skills. It transforms lives. I had never surfed before and I loved it so much that I want to do more.

You also experience the craze of 'car spinning' in Soweto. Are you a bit of a secret adrenaline junkie? I can definitely handle a bit of excitement. Car spinning began as an illegal craze during apartheid and is now a popular sport. People compete to do doughnuts. The young lady who was driving the car I was in was amazing behind the wheel, so I felt very safe.

Visiting a smoked fish market in Ghana

What were some of your other highlights? Watching the Master Musicians of Joujouka in Morocco was incredible. They have played with The Rolling Stones. Their music involves drumming, pan pipes and gains a trance-like momentum. I even got to sleep in the room where Stones guitarist Brian Jones stayed when the band was out there.

Africa has amazing wildlife. What did you encounter? I went to a game reserve in South Africa, where I spent time with an anti-poaching team. I saw rhinos, giraffes, zebras and I watched a hippo emerge from the water, open its jaws wide in a huge yawn and then disappear again. You realise just how untouched a lot of Africa is. Man hasn't desecrated it all. Being based in London full-time, it was nice to have the opportunity to see the world in its natural state.

What souvenirs did you bring back? I bought some lovely tie-dyed fabric from Nigeria and some baskets with leather handles from Ghana, plus artwork from Nigeria. I always try to get souvenirs that I know are going to last a long time and that I'm going to use or look at again and again.

Guy Martin tests his mettle as an RNLI volunteer…

NEW FACTUAL

Guy Martin: Proper Jobs

Sunday, 8pm, U&Dave (box set, U)

What does it really take to work as a deep-sea miner, a dairy farmer or an HGV-recovery driver? Motorcycle racer turned TV presenter Guy Martin aims to find out in the second four-part outing of his Proper Jobs series on U&Dave, as he tries more of Britain's most challenging trades and learns from the everyday heroes who do them.

He's in at the deep end in this week's first episode when he joins the volunteer RNLI crew at the busy Humber Lifeboat Station near his home town of Grimsby.

'Just to be part of this selfless operation, donating your own time and effort to help other people, I thought, "I'd like to do that,"' says Martin, 44.

But the work is demanding. Not only must he be on call 24 hours a day for six days straight, but the volunteers constantly put their lives on the line. In the RNLI's 200-year history, more than 600 lifeboat crew have died on the job.

Martin's first test is a training exercise where he gets to helm a £2 million, 60ft lifeboat, before testing himself in a real call-out when a small motorboat gets stranded in a shipping lane and needs towing back to shore.

LIFESAVER

Normally, volunteers must train for months before being signed off to take part in a real-life rescue, but the crew happily put their faith in Martin.

'I'd gone through two days of basic training, so I'd probably done enough to have the boxes ticked for Health and Safety to allow me to do it. It was great!' he says.

He later takes part in a joint RNLI and Coastguard training mission, simulating a complex rescue that involves lifting two casualties from a stricken vessel by helicopter.

And by the end of filming, he's seriously considering signing up to continue his work as a volunteer.

'It was an adventure out on the Humber, and I like the idea of being part of that team,' he says. 'I want to help other people – I think it's contagious.'

SCI-FI THRILLER

Director Edgar Wright delivers a pumped up, scathingly satirical screen version of Stephen King's bleakly dystopian 1982 novel in which an everyman hero battles to survive a deadly reality-TV competition. King's eerily prescient book was set in 2025 and its depiction of a US dominated by venal corporations is today all too close to home.

Glen Powell plays the story's downtrodden protagonist, Ben Richards (played by Arnold Schwarzenegger in the 1987 adaptation), who reluctantly enters the $1billion contest of the title in the hope of raising the money to save his sick daughter. Alongside two fellow contestants, however, he must survive 30 days while being hunted by a team of professional killers led by Lee Pace's relentless masked assassin. The film's first two thirds barrel along with brisk gusto and anarchic humour.

The plotting gets shakier towards the end (the climax finds Ben fighting off assassins on board a hurtling jet), but Wright's film-making panache and Powell's megawatt Ordinary Joe charisma still propels the film through the more wobblier patches. Colman Domingo and Josh Brolin have lots of dastardly fun playing the show's host and its producer, while Emilia Jones makes an impact, too, as a young woman Powell kidnaps. 2025, 15, 108MIN

CRIME THRILLER

The Rip

Available now, Netflix ★★★★

Hollywood's best-known BFF duo, Matt Damon and Ben Affleck, reunite to produce and star in this true-events-inspired thriller. Lieutenant Dane Dumars (Damon) and his Tactical Narcotics Team are grappling with the murder of a colleague when a tip-off leads to a derelict stash house, with Dane and his second-in-command, Detective Sergeant JD Byrne (Affleck) discovering more than $20million in cash... Steven Yeun, Teyana Taylor and Catalina Sandino Moreno round out the cops, while outside forces include Kyle Chandler as a DEA agent and Scott Adkins as JD's FBI agent brother. While 'Mattfleck' might be the initial draw, shifting question-marks over who to trust or doubt among the seemingly salt-of-the-earth ensemble transcends this beyond a straightforward hardboiled heist. 2025, 15, 112MIN

German-loving, an atheist and also gay, Ralph Fiennes' conductor is persona non grata in the Yorkshire mill town where he lives in 1916, until conscription forces the local powers that be to draft him in as the new choirmaster to lead the Choral society's production of Elgar's The Dream of Gerontius. Alan Bennett's deft if predictable script intersperses comedy with tragedy as it looks at the grim impact of World War One on the home front. Alun Armstrong and Mark Addy pad out an accomplished cast, Fiennes gives a typically thoughtful and thought-provoking performance as the exacting new choirmaster but it's the soaring music itself – and the lilting vocals of Amara Okereke's Salvation Army girl – which make this drama sing. 2025, 15, 108MIN

Think of E.T. but with teeth and you have a decent handle on Xeno, as a lonely 15-year-old girl (Lulu Wilson) discovers and bonds with a monstrous, deadly alien out in the New Mexico desert, trying to shield it from government forces (personified by a zealous Omari Hardwick). Wilson, best known as the psychotic hero of the Becky movies, is superb, holding together this tonally inconsistent drama, helped by a beast created entirely by practical effects (no CGI here). The pair make for an engaging and intriguing double act. 2025, 15, 103MIN

Available now, Prime Video ★★★

Four years on from her scene-stealing turn in No Time to Die, Ana de Armas is back in action in this spin off from the John Wick franchise. Ballerina provides plenty of expertly choreographed mayhem, even if it can't recapture the original's bizarrely left-field wit. De Armas is out to avenge her father's death at the hands of Gabriel Byrne's cult-like leader and some familiar characters reappear and play a part in her journey, but it is de Armas who has to carry the action. She does so with dazzling panache, as the film comes up with ever more inventive weapons for her to mow down her foes. 2025, 15, 125MIN

COMEDY

The Naked Gun

Friday, 9.10am & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

The perfectly cast Liam Neeson and Pamela Anderson prove game for a laugh in this relentlessly silly revival of the hit 1980s/1990s cop comedy series. Neeson's two-decade run of playing hard-bitten action heroes gives an extra comic spin to his role here as blundering LA detective Frank Drebin Jr, son of Leslie Nielsen's bungling officer in the original films. And Anderson's blonde bombshell past makes her a good fit for her femme fatale character, true-crime author Beth Davenport.

The plot that brings them together – Beth's brother has been murdered by Danny Huston's evil tech billionaire – is decidedly ramshackle, but it holds up well enough to support a stream of goofy sight gags, dopey puns and loopy crime-film parodies.

Some jokes fail to land, but there are enough to keep us chuckling and the best have a puerile genius, as when Drebin, struggling in a club to invent a fake name for Beth, takes his cue from what he can see around him and comes up with 'Miss Cherry Roosevelt Fat Bozo Chowing Down on Spaghetti'. It's worth staying through the end credits, where the usual stingers await and a string of daft but clever jokes are hidden in the credits themselves. 2025, 15, 85MIN

Based on the fraught courtship of Kumail Nanjiani and Emily V Gordon, this unusual film gives the romcom genre a welcome shot in the arm. THE MAIN EVENT

The British clubs seek to progress as the league stages draw to a close

LIVE FOOTBALL

Wednesday & Thursday, kick-offs 8pm, TNT Sports & Discovery+

There should be plenty of shifting fortunes as the Champions League and Europa League conclude their respective league stages this week with matchday eight.

Both competitions have seen 36 sides battle it out since September, with the top eight qualifying automatically for the knockout stage and the next 16 teams going into play-offs to determine who joins them in the round-of-16.

With Champions League ties kicking off on Wednesday, and the Europa League matches on Thursday, we look at the likely fates of the British clubs…

CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

A record six Premier League teams began the league stage, and there's every chance that all of them will still be alive and kicking after Wednesday's concluding ties… Arsenal have been superb since the get-go and if Mikel Arteta rests players at home to Kairat Almaty, he might give another game to 16-year-old Marli Salmon. North London rivals Tottenham Hotspur will have defender Micky van de Ven back from a ban as they conclude away to a struggling Eintracht Frankfurt. Chelsea boss Liam Rosenior takes his new side to an inconsistent Napoli as the Blues also look to progress.

Liam Rosenior

Lewis Miley of Newcastle United

Newcastle United teenager Lewis Miley became the club's youngest scorer in the competition with a goal against Bayer Leverkusen in December and the Toon Army will be cheering on their side in a potential thriller at Paris Saint-Germain.

Erling Haaland's goals have fired Manchester City into a strong position, but they must be aware of Galatasaray's very own super striker, Victor Osimhen, who is back after running riot for Nigeria in the Africa Cup of Nations. Meanwhile, Liverpool are returning to form at the right time, though Azerbaijani side Qarabag are capable of an upset at Anfield after holding Chelsea to a draw.

EUROPA LEAGUE

Last season's tournament featured an all-English final as Tottenham Hotspur defeated Manchester United. But which home clubs will still be chasing silverware after Thursday's results?

Scottish champions Celtic are likely aiming for a place in the play-offs following a disappointing campaign that included a 3-0 home defeat to Roma that hastened the departure of short-lived coach Wilfried Nancy. Performances have improved under Martin O'Neill and Hoops fans will want to conclude with a win at home to Utrecht. Rangers lost their opening match 1-0 at home to Genk, starting a dismal trend that saw the Glasgow outfit fail to win any of their first six matches. A matchday-eight trip to Porto doesn't look like lifting the gloom.

Forest boss Sean Dyche

As Aston Villa finish at home to Red Bull Salzburg, their excellent domestic form has been replicated in Europe. With Emi Buendía finding the net, Unai Emery will have his sights on winning the Europa League for a fifth time with a third different club. Nottingham Forest have had a rollercoaster ride as they returned to Europe for the first time in 30 years, but have a play-off place within their grasp thanks to vital goals from Igor Jesus. Sean Dyche's men host Ferencváros.

Bills quarterback Josh Allen

LIVE AMERICAN FOOTBALL

NFL Championship Games

Sunday, 5, Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Sports NFL

Places in next month's Super Bowl are at stake when this season's NFC and AFC champions are decided, with coverage from 7.30pm and 11.30pm. The finalists had yet to be decided as we went to press, but there will be no back-to-back triumphs for reigning champions Philadelphia Eagles after they crashed out to the San Francisco 49ers in the Wildcard Weekend, thanks to two touchdowns from Christian McCaffrey. In what's widely regarded as one of the most open seasons for years, quarterback Josh Allen has been in fine form for Buffalo Bills as they set their sights on the AFC title, while Sam Darnold has been similarly inspirational for Seattle Seahawks as they target the NFC championship.

Sri Lanka v England

Sat, Tue & Fri, TNT Sports

Following the second and third ODIs in Colombo (Sat & Tue, play starts 9am), the teams switch to the Twenty20 format for the first contest of a three-match series in Kandy (Fri, play starts 1.30pm). Pace bowler Josh Tongue will make his maiden white-ball appearance for Harry Brook's team after taking the most wickets in The Hundred and doing well in the Ashes, while opener Phil Salt also joins up with the T20 squad after missing the ODI matches.

LIVE DARTS

World Masters

From Thursday, ITV4

As Milton Keynes hosts the first UK-based PDC tournament of 2026, world champion Luke Littler will be at the oche aiming to win the World Masters for the first time. After thrashing Dutch opponent Gian van Veen in the final at Alexandra Palace to claim a second world title, and celebrating his 19th birthday on 21 January, Littler joins a line-up that includes defending champion Luke Humphries. This year, the European Tour features tournaments in Poland and Slovakia for the first time, while the Premier League makes its maiden visit to Belgium when Antwerp stages the second week of the season.

Raymond Muratalla

LIVE BOXING

Raymond Muratalla v Andy Cruz

Saturday, DAZN

There's live coverage from Las Vegas as 29-year-old American Raymond Muratalla defends his IBF lightweight title for the first time in a mandatory fight against former Olympic champion Andy Cruz of Cuba. California-born Muratalla became the IBF champion in June without throwing a punch when he was elevated to the title after the retirement of belt holder Vasiliy Lomachenko.

Great shows for young viewers (from tots to teens) on linear TV and streaming

sky cinema Super Charlie

Saturday, 6.35am & 2.05pm, Sky Premiere

It may not be quite in the same league as Boss Baby or The Incredibles but this animated adventure featuring a baby with superpowers is entertaining enough.

The focus is on the mixed feelings of 10-year-old brother Willie, whose dreams of teaming up with his police officer dad are, of course, overshadowed by his baby brother's powers, especially when a supervillain arrives on the scene. If the siblings can learn to work together, they may be able to save their city?

Paramount+ School Spirits

Available from Wednesday, Paramount+

As the teenage supernatural drama returns for a second season, Maddie Nears (Peyton List, above) is still trapped in the spooky afterlife of Split River High and desperate to find out what happened to her. On top of all that, she's still reeling from the twist that another spirit, Janet, has taken over her body in the living world! Maddie must team up with both her fellow spirit schoolmates and her living friends to try to solve the mystery. A compelling watch for older teenagers.

Richard E Grant and Ruth Jones as Mr and Mrs Bennet

FIRST LOOK

The Other BENNET SISTER

Ella Bruccoleri stars in a new spin on a Jane Austen classic

Studious and reserved Mary Bennet takes centre stage in a fresh look at the beloved characters from Pride and Prejudice.

Airing later this year on BBC1, 10-part period drama The Other Bennet Sister is based on Janice Hadlow's 2020 novel, a follow-up to the Jane Austen masterpiece. Set during the Regency era, it sees Mary (Ella Bruccoleri) overlooked and struggling to work out what she wants from life, as her sisters Jane (Maddie Close), Lizzy (Poppy Gilbert), Kitty (Molly Wright) and Lydia (Grace Hogg-Robinson) embark on romantic adventures. But when Mary moves to London, an exciting new world opens up.

Richard E Grant co-stars as Mary's wry father Mr Bennet, while Ruth Jones is highly strung Mrs Bennet, who is keen for all her daughters to marry well. Richard Coyle and Indira Varma play Mary's kindly uncle and aunt Mr and Mrs Gardiner, with whom she stays in the capital, while Laurie Davidson and Dónal Finn portray prospective suitors Mr Ryder and Mr Hayward, and Ryan Sampson is the Bennets' cousin Mr Collins.

'As someone who has always related more to Mary than Lizzy, I feel incredibly lucky,' says Bruccoleri. 'Sarah Quintrell's scripts are packed full of beautiful idiosyncratic detail, empathy, humour and such warmth, revealing that beneath Mary's awkwardness and formality lies a woman longing for purpose and connection.'

Over 1.5 feet high!

All-new, limited-edition cuckoo clock features the endearing kitten artwork of Jürgen Scholz

Shown much smaller than actual height of 22 inches (55.8 cm) (including pendulum and pinecones). Requires 1 x 'AA' and 2 x 'D' batteries, not included.

Sculpted mouse appears on the hour with a musical tone!

Ever-so-playful and purr-fectly adorable, kittens make the most of every moment, and pounce on the fun in every hour. Now the precious kitten artwork of internationally-famed artist Jürgen Scholz inspires the exclusive 'Happy Tails' Cuckoo Clock from The Bradford Exchange. Purr-fectly melding the Old World charm of cuckoo clocks with endearing kittens in two and three dimensions, you'll love this exclusive kitten timepiece fur-ever.

The custom-designed, maple-finished wooden clock case features classic cuckoo clock styling with elegant rosette adornments. An adorable sculpted, handpainted tabby graces the roof. Heartwarming artwork from artist Jürgen Scholz adorns the clock face and case in full colour, with one sweet kitten on the dial. Three more little charmers share a happy 'tail' of a-mews-ing mischief outdoors below. For extra fun, a second sculpted kitty takes a thrill ride on the clock's pinecone weights that hang beneath.

On the hour, a cute mouse friend appears!

As the sculpted kitten watches from above, miniature doors at the clock top open on the hour. They reveal a charming, sculpted mouse as musical tones chime.
